

C2G is a Los Angeles based firm offering a complete range of architectural design, general contracting, and construction management services. Our three-tiered goal is to (1.) deliver well-designed projects (2.) on time and (3.) within budget.

At C2G we advance a unique combination of design skill and constructing know-how, which is the basis for our integrated design-build program. In other words, we are able to execute and supervise each facet of a given project. We work with our clients as partners from strategic planning through job completion; every step of the collaborative process actively monitored by C2G's principals.

We develop workable solutions that emerge contextually based on functional requirements, site characteristics, economic constraints, and specific needs. All aspects of our approach, however, are based on careful and ongoing attention to the client's concerns; listening and taking the time to interpret and analyze your options so that you can best achieve your design and building goals.

C2G is a result-oriented firm. The work we do is clean and classic, a balance of adaptable creativity and reliable service. And in the end, solid planning and skilled execution will always yield positive outcomes.
